

Check if a clearance is current

Screening checks online

Did you know you can go online and check if a screening clearance is current?

See whether or not an employee or volunteer's clearance is current by going online and checking against the Screening Unit's current clearance status list.

You will need the person's name, date of birth, screening type, screening reference number and/or clearance date to conduct a search.

This is a secure process and only nominated staff within any organisation registered with the DCSI Screening Unit can log in and conduct a search. You can check all types of clearance (except for general employment probity checks).
